About U.S. Battery:

Founded in 1926, U.S. Battery manufacturing Company has established a long history in the manufacture and development of premium grade, deep cycle batteries. Originally, the product line was limited to heavy-duty batteries, many of which were specially designed to serve the fishing industry. As U.S. Battery grew, so did its product line; building a tradition of quality and durability. Today U.S. Battery is recognized as a leading manufacturer of Deep Cycle batteries specializing in golf car batteries, sweeper/scrubber batteries, aerial lift batteries, marine batteries, and special application batteries. U.S. Battery also produces a complete line of Low Maintenance commercial, farm, marine, military, and special purpose starting batteries. The company has three large, modern plants; the corporate headquarters located in Corona, California with a second manufacturing facility in Evans, Georgia and the newest facility in Augusta Georgia. U.S. Battery distributed its products domestically as well as having a strong international market place.

Quality:

U.S. Battery's products have an optimized design and balance for superior deep cycle performance. U.S. Battery products have premium Microrib Flexsil separators, Crystallock high density paste to maximize runtime and battery life, extra thick fiberglass backing ensuring maximum life, a positive locking system called SpeedCap venting, Rotocast High-Torque defect free terminals, heavy duty internal connections to out perform the competition, and a tough polypropylene case design.
